Mr. Robert Amory
Deputy Director for Intelligence
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 "E" Street, N.W.
Washington 25, D.C.

Dear Mr. Amory,

The U.S. Naval Intelligence School is making ready its second annual operational intelligence course for foreign officers. This is a confidential level course on basic and operational intelligence for foreign intelligence officers. Last year the course was attended by officers ranging from lieutenant to rear admiral. While no list of students has been received for the next class it is expected that officers of comparable rank will attend.

The school would be honored and the students strongly motivated if you could again present the lecture, "Intelligence Organization," which was so well received last year. If such is possible, a date and time of 1400, Wednesday, 26 July 1961, is suggested.

Should this request receive favorable consideration, your staff may arrange details through LCDR James R. Green, USN, who will co-ordinate the course for the school. LCDR Green may be contacted by telephone on Code 1215, Extension 441.

Sincerely yours,

SIGNED
